

Saturday, March 26, 2011

Incinerating Presuppositionalism: Year Six

Today is March 26, which means another anniversary here at Incinerating Presupposition has rolled around once again. The first posting on Incinerating Presuppositionalism was published on March 26, 2005, a whole six years ago. And though this past year has been relatively sluggish in terms of posting activity, I am alive and well, and the state of IP is strong.

This past year has seen a fresh load of new posts. Here they are in all their glory:

225. Incinerating Presuppositionalism: Year Five - March 26, 2010
226. If Knowledge Then Non-Theism - April 4, 2010
227. The Imaginative Nature of Christian Theism - May 7, 2010
228. My Suppressed Comment Regarding TAG on Choosing Hats - May 19, 2010
229. TAG: Precariously Straddling the Horns of a Nasty Dilemma - May 21, 2010
230. Is Atheism Inherently Arrogant? - June 4, 2010
231. Answering Hutchinson's Critique of Objectivism - June 11, 2010
232. A Response to David Smart on Arrogance - June 18, 2010
233. Was I Ever a Presuppositionalist Myself? - June 22, 2010
234. The Biological Nature of Consciousness - June 25, 2010
235. The Storybook Worldview - July 21, 2010
236. Is the Christian God's Existence "Self-Evident"? - July 25, 2010
237. Nocterro's Anti-Objectivist Pseudo-Terrorism - July 31, 2010
238. A Critique of Sye Ten Bruggencate's www.proofthatgodexists.org - August 27, 2010
239. My Squabble with Andrew - September 3, 2010
240. A Reply to Andrew Louis - September 5, 2010
241. Another Reply to Andrew Louis - September 7, 2010
242. Andrew Louis' Persisting Confusions - September 11, 2010
243. Rick Warden's Critique of Objectivism - October 7, 2010
244. Some Thoughts on Presuppositionalism and the Problem of Evil - October 22, 2010
245. A Knock at the Door - November 17, 2010
246. Was Ayn Rand "Dead Wrong"? - December 7, 2010

247. Does the Double Slit Experiment Refute the Primacy of Existence? - January 29, 2011

248. Thoughts on Gallup's Religious Wellbeing Polls - February 25, 2011

249. On "Justifying" the "Inductive Principle" - March 16, 2011

While all my blogs are worth reading (of course!), highlights from this past year's activity include #227 The Imaginative Nature of Christian Theism, in which I cite no less than 13 points of evidence which indicate that Christian theism finds its basis in the believer's imagination; #234 The Biological Nature of Consciousness, which points out several reasons why consciousness is in fact a natural, biological phenomenon, and not some mysterious item of supernatural origin which is beyond our ability to understand; and of course #238 A Critique of Sye Ten Bruggencate's www.proofthatgodexists.org, which generated a lot of heat but has received no refutations whatsoever (it completely overwhelmed Sye Bruggencate himself). This blog entry also saw the highest number of comments, numbering at this time at 198, the most ever in response to one of my blogs.

Over the next few months I will be embarking on a great personal adventure and I'm expecting this to curb my own activity on IP for some time. So you might see fewer postings from me for a while. But don't be too discouraged. I'll still be lurking in the background, looking for opportunities to connect with my readers. In the meantime, you have six years worth of IP to feast on, and the great thing is that you can always return for seconds. Mmmm, mmmm, good!

by Dawson Bethrick

Labels: IP Archives

posted by Bahnsen Burner at 6:00 AM